Quick Bites!

The Persimmon Homes West Midlands project on the former Cape Hill Brewery site has started. This consists of circa 800 units. Early indications show this is going to be a big seller for Persimmon Homes, thus offering long term stability for a number of teams on the ground.

Most of you will already know, but we now have a second in house Health & Safety Officer: Adrian McGowan, a valuable asset to the company in many ways.

Tony McCauley has left the company to move over to Ireland full time, We all wish him the very best for the future!

Two New Quantity Surveyors have Joined the Company. Paul Cribb & Pete Lee. This is in addition to the new QS in training James Taylor! So a big welcome to the company to those guys!

Bellway Homes re-generation of Chelmsley Wood is underway. We are currently working on the first phase, with many more to come, this project along with the other existing large contracts provides valuable stability to the company.

We now have a new low-loader driver, John Birch. A very experienced operator who knows the job inside out.

We are shortly going to be assessed towards gaining Investors in People accreditation.

There will be a update letter about this shortly explaining what it means to the company and to you as an individual.

The current labour stands at 200+ with everyone busy!!

Great News!!! Sub Contractor of the Year!!

For both Persimmon & David Wilson Homes!

Well done to everyone!!

We'd like to say a big thank you to everyone in the company for achieving the consistently high standards required to win these two awards. These are two of the most highly regarded awards we can achieve and they are a testimony to quality, service and workmanship throughout the company.

These awards are a massive boost to the company, as they assist us in securing further works with both existing and perspective clients. They endorse our claims that we can deliver on time, to a high standard & safely.

It has to be said that these awards were a bit of surprise; this is the first year we have been awarded Sub Contractor of the year for one, let alone two clients! This goes to prove to everyone that we are a company that's doing the right things & moving forward.

Every little thing you do on site matters because when someone looks at you and the work you are carrying out, they judge the company as a whole, not just you as an individual! We rely on you to keep the reputation of this company up to the high standard our clients expect. Looks like we're doing a good job of it! That's not to say we'll sit back now and bask in the glory, there's always room for improvement and it's commitment towards continual improvement that secures continual work for all of us.

So once again
Well done everyone.

Keep up the good work!!
